e.mer.ging [ih-mur-jing] /verb/

1560s, from Middle French émerger, from Latin emergere
“to rise out or up, bring forth, bring to light.”

Birmingham has always been an emerging place. Rising from out of the ground, it established itself as the Magic City. Young professionals of the design community choose to live & work here because of the opportunity to have a large scale impact on both the built environment & culture of the city.

Become a part of the emerging movement.
